

LECTURER IN ART HISTORY – RENAISSANCE & EARLY MODERN ART

School of Culture & Communication
Faculty of Arts
The University of Melbourne, Australia

Salary: AUD$89,955 - AUD$106,817 p.a. plus 9.5% superannuation

The School of Culture & Communications are seeking an energetic and committed individual who is able to take on responsibility for the Art History Program's teaching in, first, Renaissance art and, in addition, either Baroque art or in Medieval art.

In this position, you will assume academic responsibilities including undergraduate teaching, postgraduate and honours student supervision, administration, subject coordination and maintenance of our existing curricula in Early Modern subjects as appropriate. You will have either an established record of research or show clear potential for future research accomplishment. You will be expected to show evidence of a productive research plans and demonstrate your capacity to contribute to administration within the School.

The School is definitely seeking an appointee with broad interests and an ability to relate her/his specialisation to the broader teaching and research interests of the Art History program of the University of Melbourne, and therefore the ability and desire to make contributions to the generalist first year art history subjects.

Employment Type: Full-time (fixed-term) position available for 12 months commencing 1 January 2015.

Enquiries only to: Associate Professor Rachel Fensham, Tel +61 3 9035 8630, Email rachel.fensham@unimelb.edu.au

Close date: 7 September 2014

For position information and to apply online go to <http://hr.unimelb.edu.au/careers>, under 'Job Search and Job Alerts' click on the relevant option (Current Staff or Prospective Staff), and search under the job title or job number 0032695.